1. Boys in the Digital Wild

(title is a clickable link) This report from internet matters explores how the time boys spend online relates to their identities, relationships and emotional well-being. 75% of boys encounter masculinity-related posts (often showing up without them searching for it).

2. Find The Right Words.

(title is a clickable link) Virgin Media and Internet Matters have released a video and resources called 'find the right words', intended to help with having difficult conversations online.

3. Are you aware of the risks that ChatGPT and other AI Chatbots pose to your children?

The Youth AI Safety Institute is a new, independent effort to research the impact of AI, set safety standards and to share their findings. Early risk assessments into the most commonly used AI Chatbots show that many have high or unacceptable risk for teenage users.
